

The worst Springtime Easter party ever (Friday 4th April 2025)

It was a beautiful springtime Friday at the Adhikaris' house and 17-and-a-quarter-year-old Arigauravi (who was born on Saturday 5th January 2008 in Locksbottom, Bromley, South-East London and was wearing a green hoodie and a pair of jeans. He had semi afro hair and wore some green glasses with rectangular rims as he had poor eyesight) had just finished his online lesson. After packing and getting ready for Phoenix the next day, he went to the living where 48-year-old Mum (Taryn Adhikari, Arimadura and Arigbeniri's mother – she was born on Sunday 12th September 1976 in New Delhi, India and she had black braided hair that was down) was watching Bollywood on the Hisense television with 18-and-a-half-year-old Arimadura (who was born on Tuesday 17th October 2006 in Locksbottom, Bromley, Southeast London and was wearing yellow pyjamas with a pair of dancing shoes on the pyjama top. She had black hair that was cut into eight pieces with two twists in each cutting with a multicoloured bead at the bottom of each twist. 54-year-old Dad (Isayu Adhikari) claimed, "There's a springtime Easter party in Melton Mowbray, it starts at quarter past seven and we have to get ready RIGHT AWAY!", Mum, "Come on folks, we almost forgot about the springtime Easter party, have to get ready; we have just showered!".

After that, the parents put what the siblings would be wearing at the party on their beds and went to the bathroom to have their own showers. Arimadura wore a short sleeved pink dress, light pink and white striped tights and blue flat shoes and Arigauravi wore a green short sleeved shirt, blue jeans, grey computer socks, and tank brown trainers.

After dressing up, the children wanted to put on their jackets and coats, but Mum and Dad called them to the parents' room for a family meeting. So, off the children went to that room where Rochelle and Mum were ready and waiting to talk to the children about rules and expectations; Dad was wearing a blue hooded cardigan, a short-sleeved royal blue t-shirt, blue jeans and dark brown trainers and Mum was wearing a light blue long sleeved shirt with dark blue stripes, blue jeans and black flat shoes. "Sit down all of you,” ordered Mum. “You’re far from in trouble all of you,” Dad said, “We need and want to talk to you about the rules when you go to that party,” Mum said.

The siblings obeyed their parents’ order and Dad and Mum talked to the children about the rules when they were going to the social event. “Children, you are going to a social event and these are the important rules: You must not touch people’s private property in the hall, you must not steal food from someone else or look for food, you must refrain from entering private areas, you must resist going outside as it is getting dark and on top of that, you must NOT go into a kitchen, steal something sharp and pop the balloons with it,” explained Mum, “If you follow the rules and behave, I repeat “follow the rules and behave”, your Mum will be taking you to The Movies!” cried Dad, “But if you break even one of these rules, we will be going straight home and there will be no Movie. This is your one and only warning. Do you understand?” said and asked the parents. Replied the Adhikari siblings deafeningly, “YES WE DO UNDERSTAND!”, their voice was so loud that it could be heard across Europe, Asia, Africa, and Oceania, this includes Australia in Oceania and Japan in Asia. “Lower your voices please children, you can now go and put on your coats,” said Mum.

So, the Adhikari siblings scrambled back to their bedrooms to put on their jackets and coats to keep them warm. Arimadura wore her well-loved red and black checked coat and Arigauravi wore his precious leather black jacket. Arimadura wore silver bumpy hooped earrings on her earlobes, a multicoloured necklace on her neck, and a pink beaded bracelet on her left wrist, she also carried a straw handbag with a pink flower on it. The mothers were also putting their coats on; Mum was wearing a wine coat, and Dad was wearing a dark purple coat.

After the family had put their coats and jackets on, the parents styled their sibling’s hair. Mum brushed Arimyriah’s hair with a brown hairbrush with soft bristles and Mum put a pink and white gingham Alice band on Arimyriah’s head. Arigauravi combed his hair earlier, before heading to school. After the hair styling, Mum grabbed the keys to the maisonette, and everybody followed her (like Jesus’s twelve disciples) outside. On the way, Mum locked the door to House Number 40 and everybody followed each other to the car that was a Volvo EX30 Dad got back on October 16th, 2024.

When they were in the car, Arigauravi questioned, "Daddy, where are we going via?" "We are stopping over at Derby to collect something from Pastor Ethan," answered Dad. When they got to Derby (via Ashby), Dad knocked the door of House number 23.

During the car journey from Derby to Melton, everybody was serene, Arigauravi used Video Editor to edit videos on his iPad, Arimadura watched videos on her phone, while Dad and Mum yakked about their lives.

"We are almost at the venue," said Arigauravi when the car was moving to Melton

When the trio was one twelfth of an hour away from the venue, they slowly made their way out of the car as Dad had to go to Nightshift and walked for five minutes until they got to the party venue (Melton Venture House Family Hub). The venue had one floor and was called a bungalow with a big playground with some playground equipment. "I know this place, it's like Tuesday After School Club," said Arimadura. "I know," said Mum.

When they got to the venue, Mum pressed the bell, and the yellow door automatically opened. "Be good at the party and follow all the rules," said Mum. Mum took a cab to Pastor Ethan's. The trio staggered into the entrance and 44-year-old Ruby Perkins (who was born on Thursday 27th December 1980 in Birmingham, West Midlands and had black medium-length straight hair with purple hair extensions in low pigtails, white skin and hazel eyes, wore black glasses with rectangular rims as she had poor eyesight like Arigauravi, is allergic to potatoes after having a gastric flu when she was six months old and had a left bionic arm permanently after a drunk stranger threw an axe right at her on the left arm when she was climbing a tree in Coventry when she was almost 14. She was wearing a red short-sleeved dress, yellow tights and black loafers and was wearing a daffodil headdress on her head) came downstairs, “Hello everyone,” she said in her strong Birmingham accent, she escorted the children up to the hall of the hub, where the party was taking place.

After a tiring walk, the quintet finally made it to the springtime Easter party. The hall was very big and very broad, there was a hall, numerous books, a sensory room, a therapy room and a clinic/health room, it had three and a half toilets (the girls’ toilet was for the girls only, the toilet next door to it lacking the tissue paper dispenser, soap dispenser and hand dryer was for the adults only, the boys’ toilet was for the boys only and the staff toilet was for both the adults and the children), it was decorated with pink balloons, had a green bouncy castle, huge spring flowers, giant papier mâché Easter eggs, bunny bunting, a food table, an arts and crafts table and a face painting table with faces painted by 40-year-old Scottish lady Miss Robin Thornton (formerly Class 5C’s teacher at Ramsden Hillview Primary School – she was born on Monday 25th February 1985 in Paisley, Scotland and had light brown medium-length straight hair with blue hair extensions that was in low pigtails, white skin, blue eyes and was wearing a long sleeved pale blue cardigan, a rose short sleeved shirt underneath, black trousers and black flat shoes and was wearing a pair of bunny ears on her head). The quartet of children knew most of the other children, they were from their school. Yippee!

After getting upstairs and getting to know some of the children, everybody played for three quarters of an hour. Arimadura and Arigauravi got their faces painted; Arimadura got her face painted as a beautiful butterfly, Arigauravi got his face painted as a gremlin. Then, the duo made their ways to the pink bouncy castle. However, when they were about to jump for some minutes, their 51-year-old teacher Mrs Susan Spears (Formerly Rose Class’s teacher at Ramsden Hillview Primary School – she was a woman who was born on Tuesday 2nd April 1974 in Bristol, Bristol, South-West England and she had straight long strawberry blonde hair down and was dressed up as Minnie Mouse wearing a short sleeved red dress with white polka dots on it and was wearing mouse ears with a matching bow on her head, she was wearing black high heeled shoes) asked the duo to take their shoes off, Arigauravi to take his glasses off as shoes (especially high-heeled shoes) would tear the bouncy castle, and glasses would fall off the children's heads and they could get accidentally broken by other children. After the siblings took off their shoes, Arigauravi took off his glasses, the siblings had some jumpy fun with some other children for fifteen minutes. Then, the quartet put their shoes and glasses back on and they went to the arts and crafts table to produce some colourful Easter cards, Easter baskets for the Easter Egg hunt and Easter bonnets to wear on their heads.

At half past eight, a 35-year-old Irish lady Mrs Hannah Comber (the party instructor – formerly a Year 5 teacher at St Mary Cray Primary Academy – she was born on Tuesday 25th July 1989 in Sligo, Ireland and she had curly ginger hair tied up in a tight bun, fair skin, blue eyes and was wearing a medium green long-sleeved shirt, blue jeans, green flat shoes and was wearing bunny ears on her head) spoke to all the children from Reception to Year 6, “Hello boys and girls, it’s time for our first game: pass the Easter egg,” she shouted loudly into her microphone so all the teenagers stopped whatever they were doing and sat down in a circle to play the pleasurable party game suitable for an Easter party. They were passing a giant papier mâché Easter egg 45-year-old John Lisk (He was born on Thursday 18th October 1979 in Nottingham, in Mansfield and he was very tall, he had dark brown hair with a sideways fringe, fair skin, blue eyes and wore small black glasses with rectangular rims, not because he had poor eyesight but because a female student pushed a table over and hit his right eye with it back in Early February, he was wearing a long sleeved black button up shirt, blue jeans and black loafers) bought exactly a week ago.

Everybody played nicely for a couple of minutes, until Arigauravi decided to misbehave, he stood up in the middle of the game, snuck into one of the art and craft drawers, stole a glue stick and drew private parts. “Arigauravi, please wash those inappropriate drawings off RIGHT THIS MINUTE or you will be having a ten-minute time out! Put it away in five, four, three, two one! This is your last warning, Arigauravi. WASH THOSE DRAWINGS OFF IN FIVE, FOUR, THREE, TWO, ONE!, PUT IT AWAY BEFORE I GIVE YOU A TIME OUT!” ordered 38-and-three-quarters-year-old Mr Edward “Teddy” James whose voice ascended (he was born on Monday 5th July 1976 in Edinburgh, the capital city of Scotland in the United Kingdom and he had short, spiky, light brown hair, fair skin and grey eyes, he was wearing a long sleeved royal blue shirt, black trousers, white socks and blue trainers). But Arigauravi took ZERO notice, he ignored John Lisk when he threatened him of time-out and even drew a middle finger. "ARIGAURAVI!!!" hollered an angered John Lisk through his green megaphone, "BECAUSE YOU IGNORED ME WHEN I TOLD YOU TO RETURN THE GLUESTICK AND WASH THOSE DRAWINGS, YOU WILL BE SITTING ON THE CHAIR FOR FIVE MINUTES!", he gave Arigauravi a royal blue ten-minute timer and sat him on a purple chair with a hole in the middle for five minutes. Showers of tears came from Arigbeniri's two eyes although he was used to having time-outs when he was younger, while the other children resumed playing the party game, passing the Easter Egg around the circle of children when the lively music played; when the music stopped, the child who was holding onto the egg got a mini chocolate roll and the child who was holding onto the egg when the game ended got a milk chocolate bar. The Easter egg stopped on Arimadura, 14-year-old Emilia Desborough and 16-and-a-quarter-year-old Mercy when the music was paused during the game and those girls got a butterfly cupcake. The winner (the child who was holding onto the Easter egg the end of the game) was a 15-year-old girl called Scarlett Chambers, and she got the giant chocolate bar.

After ten minutes, John Lisk let Arigauravi get off the purple seat and resume playing. He played the other two-party games fairly and behaved himself. When the children were playing pin the head on the bunny, he was on good behaviour - a 17-year-old Year 13 boy called Luke Aguillon won that game thus received a big milk chocolate bar from Hannah and when the children played musical thrones, his behaviour was exemplary - Pelumi won that game, so she obtained a milk chocolate bar from Hannah. Unfortunately, when it was time for the party food and Easter cake, Arigauravi started to pick up his unacceptable behaviour. When the children were tucking in or about to tuck into the party food, Arigauravi stole them. First, he stole Emilia Desborough's mini pizza and bread roll and put them into his mouth. Next, he nicked and ate 16-year-old Tia-Rose Jameson's crisps, cheese biscuits and sausage roll. Then, he robbed Pelumi's pork pie, wraps and scotch eggs and devoured them. After that, he stole Arimyrriah's spring rolls, slice of the strawberry cheesecake, chocolate nest, cherry Bakewell, chocolate fairy cake with pink icing and a white chocolate jazzle on top, wraps, ham finger roll and cheese biscuit and gobbled them up. Then, he took 19-year-old Daniel Revell's carrot cupcake, vanilla cupcake, handful of chicken strips and bread rolls and scoffed them. After that, he purposely upset 20-year-old Chloe Sackley by snatching her slice of rocky road, brownie, chocolate crispy cake and sausage roll and eating them. Finally, she robbed and devoured 21-year-old Aidan Kenwood's slice of the Easter cake, sausage rolls, handful of skips, smarties and cherry Bakewell.

Suddenly, an almost-90-year-old man who was born on Sunday 16th June 1935 in Sunderland, Tyne and Wear and was on the verge of baldness, had fair skin, green eyes and was wearing a white long-sleeved formal shirt, a black bowtie, a black three-piece suit (a jacket, a waistcoat and some trousers), blue socks and dark grey shoes came along to the food table, he was called James Bolam. He looked exceptionally enraged. "WHAT THE HELL IS GOING ON HERE?!" asked he in a very irate voice. "Arigauravi kept stealing my food!" wept Emilia, "He just refused to stop, he kept on stealing!" snivelled an angered Tia-Rose, "I want my pork pie back!" screamed Pelumi, "I'm really hungry!" protested Arimadura, "I want my (bleep) food back!" screeched Daniel, "FLORA HAS REALLY UPSET ME!" bawled Chloe, "I was longing to eat the tempting cake!" cried Aidan.

James got really angered at Arigauravi, he dragged her off his chair at the party food table and wrestled her to the purple time-out chair and gave her a turquoise fifteen-minute timer. "Why the hell were you stealing food from other children, you stupid little Indie?" he asked in wrath as he flicked both Arigbeniri's cheeks, "Stay there for fifteen minutes.". He left Flora on the chair for a quarter of an hour and stormed off; leaving Arigauravi in floods of tears as she had an extra time-out. He was also swearing during the extra time out.

After fifteen minutes, James said this, "Little Indie, you are free to go, but DO NOT misbehave.", Arigauravi stood up, but did he stop misbehaving? No siree. He was consistently mucking about with the gold electric fan, he was incessantly pressing the fan's buttons: 0 (meaning the fan is turned off), 1 (meaning the fan is at low speed), 2 (meaning the fan is at medium speed) and 3 (meaning the fan is at high speed) until it blew up! (meaning the fan stopped working). Luckily, James observed the incident and slapped her all over his body, she slapped his head so hard, his blue glasses fell off, but they didn't break. Phew! Arigauravi picked them up and put them back on. "WHY THE HELL DID YOU BLOW UP THE FAN?!" asked Jeremy in an even angrier tone, "I don't know what to say, it was an accident, I didn't mean to break the fan!" sobbed Arigauravi. But he didn't make the fan stop working by accident at all. "Really, you did this by accident you say? Oh no, you deliberately did this, or on purpose, how dare you do that and lie that you did not mean to break it to justify your own wicked, woeful behaviour!" replied James angrily.

After all that; he went into the kitchen and stole a knife. When he walked out of the kitchen, Mrs Spears angrily walked up to him and questioned this, "Why have you gone into the kitchen and what are you doing knife in hand?". Arigauravi didn't respond, instead, he ran with the knife and used the tip to pop some of the pink balloons of the arch. "STUPID, STUPID BALLOONS!" he shouted as he popped the balloons one by one, gradually destroying the arch, "I HATE THE (BLEEP) COLOUR PINK! I PREFER IF THE DECORATOR PUT GREEN BALLOONS IN PLACE!" hollered Arigauravi.

In the nick of time, 45-year-old Cerrie Burnell (She was born on Thursday 30th August 1979 in Petts Wood, South-East London and she had curly black hair, olive skin, green eyes and has just her left arm and was wearing a silver dress, dark grey tights and shiny silver open-toed sandals) came and slapped Arigauravi hard. "HOW VERY DARE YOU HAVE THE AUDACITY TO POP THE BALLOONS! WHAT THE HELL WERE YOU THINKING?!" she shouted, "I really don't like pink, Cerrie!" wept Arigauravi. The fact Arigauravi disliked the colour pink didn't mean he had the right to pop the balloons. The beating of his life made Arigauravi cry. Suddenly, Jamie's children (5-year-old Flora, who was born on Monday 6th January 2020 in Hinckley, Leicestershire, East Midlands and she had medium-length straight strawberry blonde hair in a pair of high bunches, fair skin, green eyes and was wearing a short sleeved yellow dress, yellow and white tights and black Mary Jane shoes, she wore a pair of bunny ears on her head and 6-year-old Lukas who was born on Friday 23rd Friday 2018 also in Hinckley, Leicestershire, East Midlands and she also had medium-length straight strawberry blonde hair but in a pair of low bunches, fair skin, green eyes and was wearing a light blue and white gingham summer dress with zip, white socks and black closed toed sandals, she wore an Easter bonnet that she made at home in Coventry) saw Taylor crying and tried to cheer him up. "Don't cry Arigauravi, I can cheer you up," said Flora, "He really doesn't need cheering up Flora, he has just gotten slapped by Cerrie," said Lukas.

Arigauravi was misbehaving non-stop, when Joel went to the first floor of the school and got a silver electric fan, Arigauravi played with the turner and pointed it at 0, I, II and III, changed the speed and turned it on and off repeatedly until both James and Cerrie walked up to Arigauravi and really told him off. "YOU NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY CHILD!" they roared like lions, "JOEL HAS GOTTEN A NEW SILVER FAN FROM THE MIDDLE FLOOR OF THE SCHOOL AND YOU ARE PLAYING WITH IT!" That did it! Cerrie walked up to Joel and told him about both Arigauravi naughtiness, "Joel, Arigauravi is really misbehaving," complained James, "What is he doing?" asked Joel, shocked, "Playing with the new fan," answered James.

Joel had really lost his temper, he ran up to Arigauravi and slapped him all over his body (despite not used to slapping or harsh punishments), "ARIGAURAVI, WHY THE HELL ARE YOU PLAYING WITH THE NEW SILVER FAN I GOT FROM THE FIRST FLOOR?!" he asked boisterously, he slapped Arigauravi so hard, he cried again. "Right, Arigauravi, that's it, this is your final straw. I am going to be calling your mother." Arigauravi dragged himself to the hall and waited at the door for his Mum and Joel got out his phone (a white iPhone 11 2018 with a Union Jack Case that he got on his 33rd birthday on Saturday 22nd September 2018) and tried to call Taryn, but to no avail as she was busy at Pastor Ethan's. Thus, he sent a WhatsApp message to her to tell her about her son's behaviour.

At nine in the evening, during the thirty-minute cooking session, the good boys and girls was making chocolate Easter cupcakes with margarine, caster sugar, self-raising flour, eggs, cocoa powder and milk. Miss Partridge said, "Key Stage 3, you are making nine cakes and Key Stage 4, you are making 12 cakes," everybody got to work making chocolate cupcakes with the ingredients and measured them accurately. When she had stirred her mixture, Arimadura put her index finger into her bowl and licked the mixture, luckily nobody minded until she did it one time too many, gradually angering Hannah and Miss Partridge. Not to mention Mrs Spears, when she put her finger in the bowl for the sixth time, Mrs Spears urged Arimadura to wash her hands. When everybody had finished making their own cupcakes, Hannah took them to a giant oven in the kitchen and set a fifteen-minute timer for them not to get burnt or even slightly overdone.

When the cakes were baking for fifteen minutes, everybody went back to the hall to have some more free time, jumping on the bouncy castle, dancing with the Easter bunny, doing Easter arts and crafts, along with some free drawings. And when the Easter cupcakes were ready, Miss Anderson had prepared some chocolate buttercream with butter, icing sugar and cocoa powder, and there were also some chocolate mini eggs, Hannah brought the cupcakes to the second floor, and everybody iced the cupcakes with the buttercream and three or less chocolate mini eggs. After all the well-behaved children had decorated the cupcakes, Hannah put them in metal boxes for them to take home with their party bags.

At twenty-five past nine, when the party was five minutes prior to ending, Mrs Spears gave the good children huge party bags consisting of toffees, bubble packs and wands, a packet of mini chocolate eggs for the children in Key Stage 3, a small chocolate egg for the children in Key Stage 4, some coloured pencils for the boys and some hair bobbles for the girls.

At half past nine, Hannah told all the children that it was now time to finish, and she urged the primary school aged children to tidy up and stop what they were doing and go to the playground where their parents were waiting for them. _

When Joel saw the Adhikari's Mum at the school playground outside a cab, he said this, "Taryn, I tried calling you earlier, but you didn't pick up, Arigauravi has been very naughty at the party - drawing inappropriate drawings, stealing food, playing with a fan, popping balloons and playing with a fan I got from the first floor,". Mum said, "I saw the text message you sent to me and Arigauravi is going to be so grounded when we get home, I had to revoke the bus ride to and from Leicester and the trip to the The Movies.". When Joel had finished talking to Arigbeniri's mum about his bad behaviour, he went back inside the sub to help tidy up the hall.

In the playground, Arimadura asked, "Rochelle, why do we have to go home by car? I really wanted to try The Movies. So did my brother. Rochelle answered in her London accent, "My has misbehaved badly so Joel tried to call me to come and collect all of you to no avail. About the trip to The Movies, it is now out of the question because like I said, you all went to an Easter party and Arigauravi was badly behaved and he has phoenix tomorrow so I had to revoke the bus ride to Leicester and movie trip much to the dismay of you. Now let's go into the cab I booked at Pastor Ethan's.". And outside the duo went to enter the cab Mum had booked on the way to the family hub to pick up the children (a silver Ford C-Max made in Late 2013 with its original radio removed and a Ford C-Max Android radio alongside a satnav fixed on it with nine cream leather seats and is set to Capital FM on FM 96.2).

"Please may I sit next to the driver Mummy?" asked Arigauravi when the quintet got outside. "Yes, you may since I cannot allow you to sit next to a female driver as it is safer to sit next to a driver who is a male," replied Mum in her cross accent, so Arigauravi took himself left to the driver's row and Arimadura sat in the middle.

On the drive to the house in Coalville via Melton Mowbray, Six Hills, Anstey, and Markfield, Mum said to Arigauravi at the front, "Arigauravi, I am so ashamed of you, you are going to be so grounded for a week, I cannot believe you misbehaved AT YOUR AGE! You are banned from TV, PC and electrical devices for a whole week.” Her voice ascended when she spoke to Arigauravi while Arimadura was weeping during the cab ride, she wanted to go to The Movies but that didn’t happen, she cried even harder and started screaming and kicking. Luckily, Mum didn’t get angry with her repetitive screaming and kicking, she said, “Calm down Ari, there will be other parties in the future, please stop sweetie, stop crying, kicking and screaming for the love of God.” “Mum, please may I eat one of the Easter cupcakes I made at the party?”, Mum answered “No Ari, you legally MUSTN’T be eating in cabs, especially this cab with the light interior as it clearly says no smoking, eating or drinking because if you EVER eat in cabs, you will litter the interior and make it dirty, and the driver Jude would be cross with not just you, but he would be cross and fine all the passengers (i.e. the rest of us).”

When, the trio arrived home, everybody disembarked from the cab and said thank you to the Irish driver Jude. Jude smiled as he drove off to his next adventure. Inside the house, Mum gave Arigauravi a good slap all over his delicate body with a fuchsia belt making him cry once yet again, Arimadura went to her bedroom and had the longest, loudest, shrillest, most appalling tantrum you could imagine, she longed to go on a bus ride to Leicester and watch a movie but Mum had to cancel both events as Arigauravi misbehaved badly, she made her room untidy in the process and woke up the whole of Coalville from their sleep and her mother forced her to tidy it up again before she could go to bed, and Arigauravi went to bed as it was late, and he had phoenix the day after
